.... ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — The majority of New Mexicans support legalizing marijuana, a statewide poll released this week reveals. The statewide survey conducted by Morning Consult found that 64 percent of New Mexicans support the legalization of pot while only 26 percent oppose it. Those polled were asked "Should marijuana be legalized or not?" Fifty-five percent of those surveyed said yes, while 35 percent said no, and 10 percent said they didn't know. The question was asked to 1,587 residents in all 14 New Mexico counties, as well as the two state capitals, according to Morning Consult. The poll surveyed residents from April 21-May 4, with 50 percent of the responses from registered voters and 50 percent of the responses coming from non-voters. ADVERTISEMENTSkip .... The poll also found that New Mexicans are split on whether other states should legalize marijuana. The poll found that 45 percent of those surveyed believe that other states should legalize marijuana, while 42 percent believe the federal government should do that and 7 percent said it shouldn't. Among non-voters, the support for other states legalizing it was 43 percent, compared with 44 percent who wanted the federal government to take action. New Mexico is the only state in the country that has voted against legalizing marijuana. over the past nine months, and a return to growth expectations has taken the market above its previous peaks. The statement doesn't mention that the Fed has lost control of the money market by printing ever-larger amounts of cash at compound annual rate of 240 billion. The SNB has already reacted to the failed QE experiment by increasing their exchange rate relative to the euro at -2.4% versus + 0.7%. This is a return to a multiple of 5.1. The Swiss have done this for the past six months and they are in the process of reversing this policy. The SNB is beginning to respond to the foreseen collapse of the US mortgage market. This will lead to a further collapse of the US dollar, the currency that backs mortgage loans. While this new "policy" will be met by massive protests in the US, I suggest that the Europeans should continue their purchase of US sovereign debt, add to gold and gold stocks, and prepare their social structures for a possible European-

Reggie Mantle Reginald "Reggie" Mantle (born April 13, 1951) is a former professional American football player who played tight end for the Oakland Raiders of the National Football League (NFL). Early life Born in Atlanta, Georgia, Mantle played four years of college football at the University of Georgia where he was a starter at tight end and was twice named an All-American. At the time of the conclusion of his four-year playing career, he finished fourth in the nation in receptions with 68 and seventh in receiving yards with 957. Mantle was drafted in the second round of the 1973 NFL Draft by the Oakland Raiders. After attending rookie training camp with the Raiders, he broke his arm in a fight with teammate and future Hall of Famer George Atkinson. In 1974, he started the season opener for the Raiders against the Kansas City Chiefs and had one catch for seven yards. He played with the Raiders until 1980. In his NFL career, Mantle caught 142 passes for 2,044 yards and 16 touchdowns. In order to determine the role of lipids in cell septation, we examined the effect of the interruption of biosynthesis of the major membrane phospholipids, phosphatidylglycerol, cardiolipin, phosphatidylinositol and phosphatidylpropanolamine, on septation in Bacillus subtilis. Protease production and formation of spores were inhibited in B. subtilis cells in which membrane phospholipids were synthesized without methionine. Accumulation of radiolabeled amino acids in the presence of phosphate was normal, while the appearance of radiolabeled phospholipid precursors suggested that precursors for the biosynthesis of cardiolipin, phosphatidylglycerol and phosphatidylinositol were incorporated into the membrane. When phospholipids were produced in the presence of methionine, the
